NOT HOUSE WINES

Alongside the wine we sell by the glass, we are bringing some rare beasts to the Plough wine list to showcase some of the great stuff we love to drink. These wines might be from small producers who don't see much light of day, from iconic producers that we wouldn't normally have on the wine list or just plain not that fashionable. Whatever the reason, we think each of these wines is worth discovering and we hope you enjoy them while you can. We will only ever get a small amount of each wine in order to keep the list fresh and exciting so when they're gone, they're gone. Finished. Done. No more. If one of the wines listed is not available please ask our bar staff to recommend something else.

Adegas Guimaro Blanco - mineral, fresh, dry - 2016

GO-DE-YO! Godello. A criminally underappreciated grape for those who like crisp, zingy whites and the Ribera Sacra in north-west Spain might just produce the very best.

a thirty pound white

Clos du Gravillas Emmenez Moi Au du Bout Terret - floral, flinty, dry - 2016

Clos du Gravillas make some of the most forward thinking wines from Languedoc-Roussillon from their eight hectares of pure white crushed gravel vineyards and although 'take me to the end of the earth' is a rather large claim for a bottle of plonk, this wine will give it a good go.

a thirty five pound white

White Black Albert Ahrens - peach, apricot, dry - 2014

We aren't going to lie. We love South African wine and we love white Rhône blends. The Marsanne and Rousanne grapes can provide some of the most rewarding wine experiences for those wanting a rich and aromatic wine. And this South African blend is a great example of just that.

a forty pound white

Ministry of Clouds Chardonnay - nectarine, subtle wood, dry - 2015

This virtual winery simply follow the best grapes around Australia to produce styles of wine they want to make, which sounds like a pretty good idea to us. This Tasmanian Chardy is an absolute delight and will be a revelation to those who like classic white Bergundians.

a fifty pound white

Patrick Puize Chablis 1er Cru - apple, pineapple soda, dry - 2016

Patrick Puize is a bit of of rock star in the world of Chablis. Exclusively handpicking grapes from tiny plots of old vines in the originally designated area of Chablis may not seem revolutionary. And it isn't. But sadly it's now a rarity. This wine is a lip-smackingly good example of what can be done with a few white grapes.

a sixty pound white

Alfredo Maestro Tejero El Marciano Garnacha - blackberry, cherry, earthy - 2016

The aliens have landed and given us a glass bottle filled with Garnacha grape juice from the Ribera del Duero (just west of Madrid). A really great start for those thinking of dabbling in 'natural' wine.

a thirty pound red

Vinteloper Urban Winery Project - blackberry, spice, oak - 2016

Dave Bowley, the one man band behind Vinteloper, is an absolute G. He makes one of the most serious Aussie Pinot Noirs. He makes fun funky natural wine in beer bottles to drink in the park. Or he relocates his entire winery cross country each year and has a big party to make a limited release wine 'Urban Wine Project' that makes him no money. But jeez its good.

a thirty five pound red

Maal Biovento Malbec - plum, blackcurrant - 2015

A real gem of an Argentinian Malbec. The 95 year old vines (yes, that is old for a vine if you're wondering) help create a really intensely perfumed Malbec that's choc full of character and is super smooth.

a forty pound red

Hamilton Russell Pinot Noir - blueberry, cherry - 2015

There are many things to admire about Hamilton Russell (like their stance against apartheid or campaigning for fair payment for agricultural workers). Fortunately their wine is also one of them. It is not hyperbole to say that this is a benchmark for elegant South African Pinot Noir..

a fifty pound red

Golden Cluster, Dion, Syrah - blackberry, olive, herbs - 2015

Oregon is fast becoming a hotbed for modern American winemaking, with the Willamette Valley forming the backbone of the production area. A cool climate Syrah (and a tiny bit of Grenache), this wine will appeal to fans of Shiraz who like things just a little more restrained than the typical Aussie or French examples.
